

I am opposed to allowing the use of cellular telephones aboard airborn aircraft. Air travel is stressful enough as it is--we don't need to be subjected to the conversations of other passengers as they raise the volume of their voices (as cellphone users tend to do) into their phones. In addition, passengers seem to have enough trouble listening to directives from flight crews.
Thank you!